This is Not the Time for a Coalition Government

Guru Mantra

If you ever think of the ideal government on a scale of 10, where would you rate it? Economy wise, some bold steps have been taken, but it is not enough. Even the CBI report on the coal scam is yet to be published. And yet, the government is in a hurry to present a new budget. Is the country ready for such a budget?

This is not the time for a Coalition Government. The situation is not right for it. The country needs a strong government that can take tough decisions. A Coalition Government will only weaken the country's position. The country needs a government that can take bold steps and implement them. The Coalition Government will only delay the implementation of such decisions.

It's for people to decide. Is it not right to have a government that has our interests at heart? The Coalition Government has not shown any sign of doing so. It has only been working on its own interests.

The country needs a government that can take bold steps and implement them. A Coalition Government will only delay the implementation of such decisions. The country needs a government that can take bold steps and implement them. A Coalition Government will only delay the implementation of such decisions.

It's for people to decide. Is it not right to have a government that has our interests at heart? The Coalition Government has not shown any sign of doing so. It has only been working on its own interests.

The country needs a government that can take bold steps and implement them. A Coalition Government will only delay the implementation of such decisions. The country needs a government that can take bold steps and implement them. A Coalition Government will only delay the implementation of such decisions.

It's for people to decide. Is it not right to have a government that has our interests at heart? The Coalition Government has not shown any sign of doing so. It has only been working on its own interests.