ISHA home school celebrates Teachers Day

It was a role reversal of sorts at Isha Home School, Coimbatore on Friday when children celebrated Teacher’s Day in a unique way by taking over the role of teachers.

As a tribute to teachers, students of Class XI and XII took over the entire responsibility of running the school right from manning the office, conducting administrative activities, and performing all other routine activities that teachers perform every day. The Teachers were through the day treated to a feast of varied activities that ended with a fabulous cultural event, performed by the teachers themselves. Also during the day they telecasted the Prime Minister, Dr Narendra Modi’s speech addressing the students of the nation, this was followed by a group discussion with teachers and students.

Teacher’s Day thus turned out to be a memorable day for both teachers and students because of the opportunity it provided for students to switch roles and experience the life of a teacher for a single day and for teachers to witness the children performing their activities with great enthusiasm and joy.
